

Link al progetto eTwinning Be sm@rt: New media, new methods

I NOSTRI LAVORI

Attività preparatorie della visita in Inghilterra

Attività sul tema sicurezza in internet

Prima mobilità: Winchester (UK)

Progetto ERASMUS+

Logo competition
2015
2016
new media
new methods

Scuola Secondaria di Primo Grado
"Ricardo Monterisi"
Bisceglie (BT)
ITALY

Votazione del logo delle scuole partner

Classificato Classipartecipazione alla lezione con la classe 2^1, Secondo

Attività preparatorie della visita in Germania.

Scuola Secondaria di Primo Grado "R. Monterisi - Bisceglie"

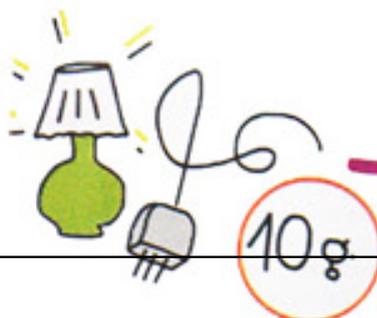

YOU SMARTPHONE'S SECRET AFTER

Electronic waste is a huge problem around the globe. The worst-case scenario is that trash winds up in unregulated or mismanaged heaps, slowly leaking corrosive chemicals and dangerous metals into the soil and water table. Do you know that your smartphone is recycled at 96%?

COPPER

10 grams is the quantity of copper contained in a smartphone. It can be reused to produce the electric cords of lamps, hairdryers, vacuum cleaners and also cars.

RARE EARTH ELEMENTS

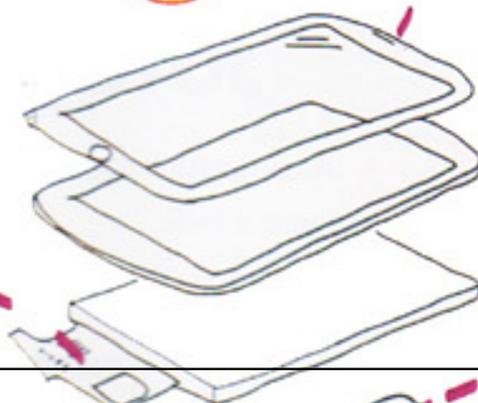

Rare earth elements (REEs) are present in many of the materials that we use on a daily basis. They are among the key ingredients in everything from cell phones to optical fibers to headphones, microphones and more. According to some estimates, only one percent of rare earth minerals are recycled. Most REEs in consumer products such as cell phones, fluorescent lighting could be recovered and recycled. Recycling REEs is a promising source of future materials.

1g.

GOLD

Gold is a precious metal and an excellent conductor of electricity. It is used in mobile phones. There is 0.1 grams of gold in each cell phone. The U.S. Geological Survey estimates that there is 100 tons of gold in high tech industry waste.

DO

Encourage social and outdoor play and activities

DON'T

Overuse your mobile phones. Limit time using them for 15 minutes max at a time

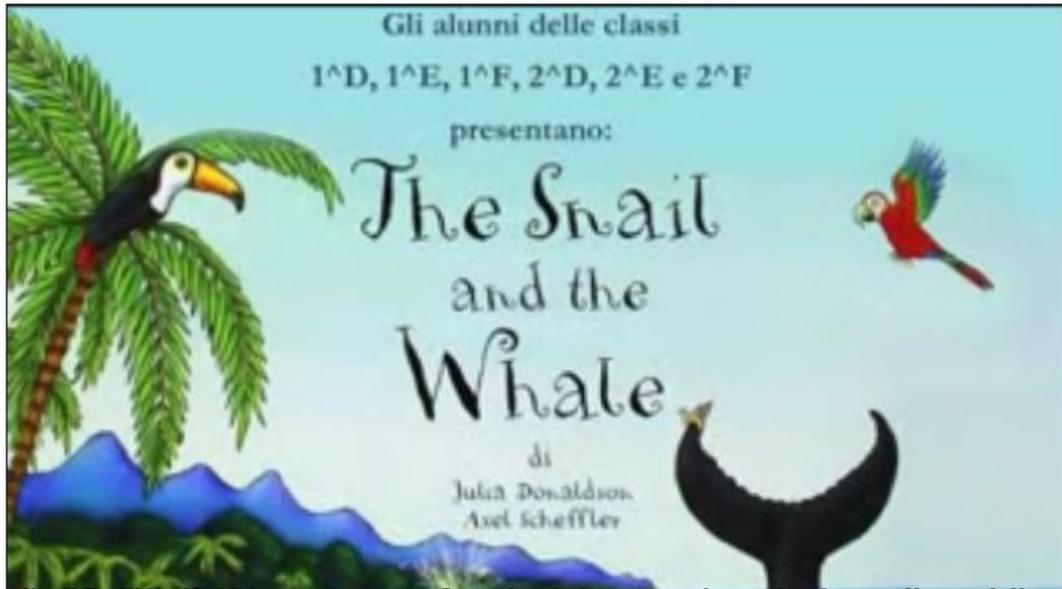

Conseguenza dell'uso dei tablet, del computer e dei cellulari \(link\)
NO PHONE IS OUR OBJECT Video contro la dipendenza dai dispositivi

W... "Leggende e tradizioni

Spettacolo teatrale e musicale bilingue "La lumaca e la balena"

<https://www.amazon.it/Julia-Donaldson-Axel-Scheffler/dp/8859100000>